Recent Developments

Investors entered the new year concerned with medical, economic and political challenges. In the U.S., the Democrats won control of the Senate, paving the way for the new administration to pass a larger stimulus package. Fiscal policy relief did not immediately allay investor concerns over increased COVID-19 cases and the impact of renewed lockdown measures. However, views changed rapidly as the vaccine rollout gathered pace and the prospect for an economic reopening crystallized. Economists quickly altered forecasts predicting a stronger recovery and higher inflation. Reassurance from the Federal Reserve that short rates would remain near zero, coupled with government support for the economy proved good news for equity markets but less so for bond markets as mid and long term yields moved sharply higher in the first quarter.

As inflation pushed to its highest level in more than a decade, U.S. government bond yields surprisingly retreated from their March 31st levels. Government bond yields had risen sharply in the first quarter as the markets rode a wave of optimism. Fed officials began discussions about “tapering” bond purchases and have pushed forward the time frame when they expect to raise interest rates. Many investors agree with the Fed that high inflation is “transitory” and largely confined to the sectors most affected by the pandemic lockdowns.

In Canada, the second wave of the virus did not dent the strong economic recovery. Consumers and businesses are adapting to containment measures, and housing market activity has been much stronger than expected. Improving foreign demand and higher commodity prices have also brightened the prospects for exports and business investment.

Financial markets pushed higher in the second quarter and major equity markets reached record highs. The appetite for risk extended into fixed income with strong returns in the more speculative high yield market. Higher quality, long-term bonds rallied off their first quarter decline following the decline in longer term government bonds yields. Despite this rebound, Government bond market returns remain slightly negative through the first half of 2021 with yields still markedly higher than the pandemic lows. Yield spread narrowing has helped to insulate corporate bonds from this and produce small positive returns for the broad Canadian Corporate bond market.

Credit spread tightening in pandemic affected issuers offset a rise in government benchmark yields in the first half of 2021, leading to positive performance for the Fund. Spreads continued to tighten after hitting decade wide levels in early 2020. Pandemically affected companies rebounded as the vaccine rollout increased internationally and economies began to reopen.

As spreads continue to normalize, the Fund is beginning to improve its credit quality by investing in high-quality, liquid positions, including NHA MBS pools and investment-grade floating rate notes. The weight in Federal Government securities increased to 8.3% from 5.2% at the start of the period, while the weight in floating rate securities increased to 23.7% from 13.8%. Floating rate exposure allows us to mitigate interest rate risk while still being able to benefit from credit spread tightening. We continue to only take on duration when we believe we are being compensated for the incremental interest rate risk. Duration of the Fund was 4.9 years as of June 30th, meaningfully below the benchmark duration

There have been no changes to the Manager or Portfolio Manager, or change of control of the Manager, or of the Fund. There have been no actual or planned reorganizations, mergers or similar transactions.

There were no changes to the membership of the Fund’s Independent Review Committee (“IRC”).

Notes

* The Fund became a reporting issuer on December 30, 2016 and accordingly prior period numbers are not available.

1 The information is derived from the Fund's unaudited semi-annual and/or audited annual financial statements. All per unit figures presented are referenced to net assets determined in accordance to IFRS.

2 Net assets and distributions are based on the actual numbers of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per unit.

3 Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units, or both.

4 This information is provided at the end of the period shown.

5 The management expense ratio is based on the total expenses of the period ended and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset values during the period.

6 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund. The portfolio turnover rate is calculated based on the lesser of purchases or sales of securities divided by the weighted average market value of portfolio securities, excluding short term securities.

7 The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
